

Biotechnology

Any technological application of living systems, biological processes or organisms, to develop or make useful products or new technologies.