

Health-Related Quality of Life [HRQoL]

Health-Related Quality of Life considers many different aspects related to a person's perception of quality of life affected by health status. These include physical, psychological, functional, and social aspects.