

Identified risk

An adverse event for which there is adequate evidence of an association with the use of the medicinal product of interest.