

Precursor

A substance or cellular component from which another substance or cellular component is formed.