

Reassortant vaccine

A subtype of attenuated vaccines containing genetic material from at least two different strains of the same pathogen.